

TROIA GOLF

Fact Sheet

Description

The Troia Golf course has 18 holes, par 72 and is 6317 metres long, stretching along the beach, with stunning views over the sea. In 2011, Troia Golf, designed by the American golf architect Robert Trent Jones Senior, was elected one of the best golf courses in the world by Rolex. There are two holes that deserve a special mention:

- Hole 3, a par 4 with perfect landscaping and magnificent sea views considered by Robert Trent Jones Senior himself as one of the best he has ever designed, was elected by the architect as part of his ideal 18-hole course.
- The 18th hole, a par 5 with a dogleg to the left and an elevated green protected by three frontal bunkers.

Architect

Robert Trent Jones Sr. was an acclaimed American golf architect, known for his significant contributions to golf course design. Born on June 20, 1906, in Ince-in-Makerfield, England, Jones emigrated to the United States as a child and eventually became one of the most influential figures in golf course architecture.

He has designed and renovated more than 500 golf courses around the world, including renowned courses such as Spyglass Hill Golf Course and Peachtree Golf Club. Jones was known for his strategic and challenging layouts, incorporating natural elements and adapting courses to the surrounding landscape. His innovative designs and attention to detail left a lasting impact on the world of golf.

"Every golf hole should be a hard par and an easy bogey."
